Continuing Medical Education and Health Sciences Libraries: Partnership Opportunities

Instructors: Gretchen Arnold, MLS, Associate Director for Library Operations; and Elaine Banner, MLS, Clinical and Nursing Liaison, Claude Moore Health Sciences Library, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, VA.

Focus on the common goals shared by continuing medical education (CME) and health sciences libraries. Take the leadership role in fulfilling your parent institution's educational goals. Partner with CME initiatives to create opportunities for integrating information management education into formal venues and expand the librarian's role. Identify current and potential CME partnership activities for your current environment.
